GRAZING LAND VALUATION COMMISSION

1616 W. Adams St.

Phoenix, AZ 85007

602-542-4621

Director: Michael Anable

The Grazing Land Valuation Commission, formed not more frequently than every five years, consists of five members appointed by the Governor: a state-certified professional appraiser; a professor serving on the faculty of the College of Agriculture at the University of Arizona; a retired employee of a financial institution that is actively engaged in agricultural lending; a non-state lease holder who primarily derives income from livestock grazing; and a conservationist representing a natural resource conservation district in Arizona. The Commission serves for one year from the date the members assume office during which period the Commission will complete the appraisal. The Commission gathers the necessary information using both the market and income approaches to prepare an appraisal to determine the true value of the forage on state grazing land. The report recommends a grazing fee that will equal the true value as recommended by the Commission. The information and work products gathered in preparing the appraisal will be available to the public. The Commission, in determining the rental rate using the market approach, determines the typical lease of two years or more of private grazing land located in Arizona. The Commission compares all factors that make up the bundle of rights and obligations in the typical private lease; documents all adjustments, calculations, and assumptions made in reaching a conclusion of true rental value for the state land grazing fee; and determines economic benefit, burden, or value attributable to each of these factors. A.R.S. § 37-285.
